DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-4, 6, and 9-13 have been cancelled and claims 5 and 7 have been amended.
2. Claims 5, 7, and 8 have been re-examined and are pending with this action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter, which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

The examiner could not find support in the specification to conclude how transport routing information is established from the steps recited in claim 5. The applicant is suggested to specifically point out by page and line number, from the specification, each of the steps claimed in claim 5. And also specifically point out from the specification that such steps in combination derive at "establishing transport routing information" (see CFR 1.75 d1).

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The examiner could not determine how transport routing information is established from the steps recited in claim 5. The applicant is suggested to specifically point out by page and line number, from the specification, each of the steps claimed in claim 5. And also specifically point out from the specification that such steps in combination derive at "establishing transport routing information" (see CFR 1.75 d1).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 5, 7, and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Takayama (US 5,991,842 A).

As per claim 5, Takayama teaches a method for establishing transport routing information in an AV/C transaction data delivery system (see col.4, lines 23-31), comprising in combination: detecting a transport (see col.10, lines 4-13 & 57-59: note: Takayama teaches when a device (switch 12) is detected the system "realizes the functions" and can "perform communications suitable for each function" (see abstract). Furthermore, Takayama teaches that the detecting of the switch 12 is essentially the detection of a mode of the device, "i.e., whether the video/camera switch 12 is activated" (see col.10, lines 57-59) and that this initial step is to determine the protocol for the transport (see col.10, line 63 to col.11, line 39)); creating a transport ID associated with said transport (implicit: see col.4, lines 26-29 and col.8, lines 50-54); notifying a transport layer of said transport ID (see col.4, lines 5-10 & 22-31: Takayama teaches of an IEEE 1212 regulation standard that describes of bus ID and node ID (see col.4, lines 22-31) and how they are added into headers of packets (see col.8, lines 50-54) for "discriminating" between busses and devices, respectively. Therefore, it is implicit that this identifying information are notified and employed by each passing layer and device to correctly and efficiently route and process the packet.); indexing said transport ID (see col.4, lines 51-57 and col.8, lines 31-34); associating said indexed transport ID with a link device (see col.4, lines 7-10 & 28-29 and col.5, lines 59-62 & 63 to col.6, line 3); assigning a transport instance to the created transport ID (see col.4, lines 7-10 and col.8, line 3-6); associating the transport protocol layer of the transport instance (see col.4, lines 5-10); and associating the transport instance with a device (see col.3, lines 35-39 and col.4, lines 7-10).

As per claim 7, Takayama teaches of further comprising creating a data record for each detected transport and storing the transport ID in association with said transport (see col.5, line 63 to col.6, line 3).

As per claim 8, Takayama teaches of further comprising notifying said transport layer of said data record (see col.4, lines 5-6).

Response to Arguments

6. The applicant did not respond with any arguments to the rejections set forth in the non-final action filed October 26, 2004. The applicant further failed to address the 35 U.S.C. 112 rejections set forth in the non-final action filed October 26, 2004. Furthermore, the amendment presented in claim 5, specifically the last three lines "assigning a transport..." was previously presented in the amendment filed August 20, 2004 along with the Request for Continued Examination (RCE).

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP

§ 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
